

Job Title: Frontend Web Developer

Hours: Full-time (Partially Remote)

Escapod Trailers is one of the fastest-growing off-road camper manufacturers in the country. Based in Coalville, UT, we are looking for a full-time Frontend Web Developer to join our team.

This position will work closely with the technology director across multiple internal and customer-facing web applications. Escapod is scaling its digital experience and this role is one of several hires we are making for our new marketing efforts. The primary workload will be focused on building out new features on our ReactJS website including e-commerce, content marketing, our trailer builder, rental booking funnel, and customer portals.

Qualified candidates may be eligible for a flexible work schedule. This could include a combination of time working remotely from home and on site at our location in Coalville, Utah.

Responsibilities:

- Develop and maintain the new Escapod website which features a custom trailer builder, rental booking funnel, e-commerce shop, customer portal, blog articles and content marketing
- Markup marketing pages and newsletters for multi-channel campaigns
- Use proprietary APIs developed by the technical director to deliver real-time production data to customers and customer experience teams
- Assist the technical director in tracking and fulfilling support requests
- Review engagement data and help identify user experience improvements

Qualifications:

- 1-2 years of experience developing web applications or verified intensive bootcamp completion
- Intermediate understanding of javascript and the browser
- Experience developing single-page applications with REST APIs
- Experience or familiar with Typescript and type checking systems
- Interest in learning full-stack javascript and dev tools
- Ability to write technical documentation and communicate with platform users
- Previous success accomplishing deadline-based projects
- Familiar with agile development sprint cycles

Qualities:

- Strong self-starting initiative and communication skills
- Enjoys paired programming and collaborative learning
- Excited to receive and action feedback on code style and execution

Escapod Trailers' is a close-knit community guided by its values of Excellence, Innovation, Simplicity, Adventure, and Integrity. We are seeking to employ those who share our values and want to join our community. Above all, we want those eager to help us grow, realizing our mission to "Build the best damn camper known to man."
